NECCS Writing Note

Abstract

This note is a unified writing bank for NECCS C Class.

It focuses on Section A chart/report writing, Section B argument writing, and high-frequency sentence materials that can be memorized and reused directly.

1. Scoring and Safe Range

- Section A: keep it around 100–130 words
- Section B: keep it around 160–200 words
- In Section A, summary is necessary
- In Section A, common-sense inference based on data is acceptable
- In Section A, personal opinion should stay brief unless the prompt explicitly asks for suggestions or solutions
- In both sections, clear structure, content coverage, and grammatical accuracy matter more than fancy wording alone

Tip

For NECCS, a complete and stable essay usually scores better than a flashy but risky one.

2. Section A: Chart / Report Writing

2.1 What to Read First

- the core subject in the prompt
- how many charts / tables / figures there are
- the title of each figure or table
- x-axis / y-axis / legend / unit / data source
- the most obvious trends, contrasts, peaks, lows, or proportions
- the relationship between multiple charts, if there is more than one

2.2 Basic Structure

1. Sentence 1: introduce the chart by paraphrasing the prompt

2. Sentence 2 : give a broad overview if you can
3. Body : describe the key figures, contrasts, and trends
4. Ending : write a concise summary
5. Optional : add one brief inference or suggestion only if it helps or if the prompt asks for it
